WHAT IS THIS BOOK ABOUT?

Crime and Punishment in Britain c1000 - Present is a thematic study that looks at the change and continuity of crime and punishment across a broad sweep of British history. You will look at the main people, events and developments, as well as significant features of the different ages, from medieval to modern times. In studying Whitechapel, you will investigate a historic environment that was significant to crime and punishment and the events and developments that occurred there.

Purpose

In studying this course you will understand the wider themes of societal change and control. You will investigate the conditions that shaped attitudes towards crime and punishment, be able to view the process of change and continuity across time, and make comparisons between different ages. Through the study of Whitechapel, you will develop an understanding of the use of sources in a historical enquiry.

Topics

Crime and Punishment in Britain c1000 - Present is split into five key topics:

- 🗄️ c1000-c1500 looks at change and continuity in crime, punishment and law enforcement from the Anglo-Saxons, through the Norman conquest, and during the late medieval period.
- 🗄️ c1500-c1700 examines the early modern era, from the Tudors to the Enlightenment, considering the impact of the Gunpowder Plot, the witch hunts and the English Civil War.
- 🗄️ c1700-c1900 looks at the industrial age and the way changes to society impacted on crime, punishment and law enforcement. This includes the development of the police, the changing nature of punishment and new definitions of crime.
- 🗄️ c1900-present follows the change and continuity in crime, punishment and law enforcement in the modern age.
- 🗄️ Whitechapel 1870-1900 examines the historic environment of Whitechapel, its conditions, people and society, as well as policing in the area and the response to the case of Jack the Ripper.

Case Studies

Through the course there are a number of case studies that allow you to investigate crime, punishment and law enforcement through the study of a single person, event or institution.

- 📖 The crime, punishment and the medieval church case study covers c1000-1500. This covers the influence of the church on crime and punishment, sanctuary, benefit of clergy and the use (and end) of trials by ordeal.
- 📖 For 1500-1700 and early modern crime and punishment, the case studies are the Gunpowder Plot of 1604 and the witch hunts of 1645-47.
- 📖 In the study of crime and punishment in industrial Britain, 1700-1900, the case studies are Pentonville Prison and the role of Robert Peel.
- 📖 In the study of modern crime and punishment 1900-present, the case studies are the Derek Bentley case of 1953, and conscientious objectors.
- 📖 Whitechapel 1870-1900 is the largest and most in-depth case study.

Key Individuals

Some of the key individuals studied on this course include:

- 👤 William I.
- 👤 Henry II and Thomas Becket.
- 👤 The Tudor monarchs.
- 👤 James I.
- 👤 Guy Fawkes and the Gunpowder Plotters.
- 👤 Matthew Hopkins.
- 👤 John Howard and Elizabeth Fry.
- 👤 Robert Peel.
- 👤 Jack the Ripper.
- 👤 Timothy Evans.
- 👤 Derek Bentley.
- 👤 Ruth Ellis.

Key Themes

Some of the key themes you will study on this course include:

-  The changing definitions of crime.
-  The nature of crimes committed during a particular period or age.
-  Law enforcement, including preventing and detecting crime, and catching the criminal.
-  The process of determining guilt and criminal trials.
-  The changing nature and purpose of punishments.
-  The social conditions that influenced these changes.

Assessment

Crime and Punishment in Britain 1000 - Present is assessed by Paper 1 and is worth 30% of your overall grade. The paper is split into two sections.

-  Section A focuses on the historical environment of Whitechapel. This consists of a knowledge-based question and a two-part question based on two historical sources.
-  Section B contains three questions that assess your knowledge and understanding of the thematic part of the course.

Section A

Section A contains Question 1, a knowledge-based question, and Question 2, a two-part question based on two sources.

-  Question 1 is worth 4 marks. It will ask you describe two features of the historical environment of Whitechapel.
-  Question 2(a) is worth 8 marks. It will ask you about the usefulness of two sources in reference to a particular historical enquiry. You will be required to refer to both sources and your own knowledge in your answer.
-  Question 2(b) is worth 4 marks. It will ask how you would follow up on one of the sources to continue the particular historical enquiry. You will be required to choose a detail from the source to continue your study, to give a question you could ask to find out more, the type of source that you could use for your investigation and to explain how that would help your enquiry.

Section B

Section B contains Question 3, an explanation of similarities between different periods and Question 4, an explanation of change or consequence. You will have a choice of one between Questions 5 and 6, which will give you a historical interpretation to support and challenge.

-  Question 3 is worth 4 marks. It will ask you to compare an issue across two different periods of time.

DEFINITIONS OF CRIME

'Every society has the criminals that it deserves.' - Havelock Ellis

What is crime?

A crime is an act considered unlawful and punishable by a government or other authority.

How is crime divided?

Criminal activity is divided into 3 different types.

- ✓ Crimes against the person, such as murder, assault and rape.
- ✓ Crimes against property, such as theft, robbery and smuggling (p.o).
- ✓ Crimes against authority, such as heresy (p.o) , treason and illegal protest.

What is the definition of social crime?

A social crime is an act most people don't believe is criminal and which they are prepared to commit or ignore.

What is the definition of moral crime?

Moral crimes are actions that don't physically harm anyone or their property, but which don't match society's views of decent behaviour. Examples include having sex outside marriage or not following Church rules.

What sort of crime is a felony?

A felony is a crime considered very serious by society.

What is a petty crime?

'Petty' is the name given to crimes that are seen as minor or less serious.

What is the crime of petty theft?

Petty theft is the stealing of small, low-value items.

What is the crime of treason?

Treason is an action against the government or other rulers.

What is the crime of heresy?

Heresy (p.o) is the crime of going against the teachings of the Church. This was strongly enforced at certain times throughout history.

What is the crime of arson?

Arson is to deliberately set fire to a public or private building or property.

What is a crime of public disorder?

Public disorder offences occur when someone's behaviour in public causes - or may cause - distress or harassment to anyone present.

DID YOU KNOW?

An action is only criminal if someone with the relevant power and authority says so.

In the 1600s, under a Puritan government, crimes included swearing, singing carols at Christmas and playing football on a Sunday!

DEFINITIONS OF PUNISHMENT

'I am told that the proximity of punishment arouses real repentance in the criminal...' - Dostoyevsky

What are punishments?

Punishments are the actions taken in response to crime by the authorities or ruling group in any society.

What are the different sorts of punishment?

There are 5 main methods a society might decide to use to punish its members for crime:

- ✓ Capital punishment.
- ✓ Corporal punishment.
- ✓ Mutilation.
- ✓ Imprisonment or incarceration.
- ✓ Fines.

What type of punishment is capital punishment?

Capital punishment, also known as the death penalty, is when a criminal is executed, usually for treason or very severe crimes. It is not a legal (p.o) punishment in Great Britain today.

What is corporal punishment?

Corporal punishment is the infliction of physical pain on the body.

What is mutilation as a punishment?

Mutilation was a severe form of punishment in the past. It would involve disfiguring parts of the criminal's body, such as cutting off a hand, ear or the nose, or even putting out the eyes.

What is imprisonment as a punishment?

Imprisonment involves holding criminals in captivity and keeping them entirely separate from the rest of the population.

What are fines as a punishment?

Fines are a demand for financial or other form of material payment from the criminal.

What was the purpose of punishment?

Punishments have 5 different purposes.

- ✓ Reform.
- ✓ Retribution.
- ✓ Deterrence.
- ✓ Removal.
- ✓ Humiliation.

What is reform as an aim of punishment?

Some punishments aim to reform the criminal, changing the person so they are no longer at risk of committing crime. This is sometimes called rehabilitation.

What is retribution as an aim of punishment?

Retribution is the notion a person should pay for what they did. It is about society having vengeance.

What is deterrence as an aim of punishment?

Historically, some punishments were severe and frightening enough to deter - or prevent - people from committing the same crimes in future.

What is removal as an aim of punishment?

Removal involves taking the criminal out of society so they can no longer cause a nuisance or threat. This might be through a temporary method such as imprisonment or a permanent one like the death penalty.

What is humiliation as an aim of punishment?

Some punishments in history would happen in public. This was to humiliate the offender, shaming them in front of others and ultimately deterring others from committing crimes.
